Company Overview

The Edison Awards™ is an annual competition designed to honor excellence in new product and service development, marketing, human-centered design and innovation. Winners represent “game changing” products, services and excellence and leadership in innovation around four criteria: Concept, Value, Delivery and Impact.

The Awards are named after inventor Thomas A. Edison and symbolize the persistence and excellence in innovation personified by him. Originally established in 1987 by the American Marketing Association, The Edison Awards became an independent organization in 2008 and is run under the parent 501(c)(3) organization, Edison Universe.

The Process

Annually, beginning in August, nominations are sought from product and service innovators in fifteen main categories which are divided into multiple sub-categories. Nominations are vetted by members of the Edison Award Steering Committee, who present a slate of finalists to the Panel of Judges. The panel is composed of over 3,000 senior business executives and academics from across the globe, whose votes acknowledge excellence in meeting the award criteria.

Awards are presented at an annual event in April. Past events have been held in New York, NY, Chicago, IL, and San Francisco, CA. Gold, Silver, and Bronze awards are given in each category/sub-category.

The Value of an Edison Award

Award winners have the opportunity to gain broad national recognition and significant market visibility through the publicity the winners receive. The annual event draws hundreds of fellow innovators to network with. Most significantly, being aligned with the Edison Awards - one of the most prestigious accolades honoring excellence in new product and service development - provides validation of the winners' innovations in the marketplace.

Winners are encouraged to broadcast their award-winning status to the business media and promote their innovation to their audiences by using the Edison Award seal. The Winner Seal amplifies consumer awareness and communicates that the product or service was awarded the prestigious Edison Award for innovation.
